King Crowned Sho Clothes I-1 Champion At GCDA CDI Opener

Wellington, FL- Courtney King was crowned the Sho Clothes Intermediate-1 Champion at last weekend's Gold Coast Dressage Association's (GCDA) Opener CDI-W. King rode Richard Malloch's 13-year old Dutch gelding, Mythilus to score 73.55%, winning the class and the Sho Clothes Championship.

Sho Clothes co-owner, Betsy Rebar Sell was on hand to present the award. Along with the division sponsorship, Sho Clothes presented King with embroidered wool cooler. "Because Betsy (Rebar Sell) is a Pan Am Gold Medalist and this is a Pan Am year, we thought it would be fun to sponsor a potential Pan Am participant for this year's games", said Michele Hundt who co-owns and operates Sho Clothes.

Sho Clothes has been serving the dressage community since 2001. Hundt, an amateur dressage rider and accomplished art director combined her business acumen and artistic eye with Sell's equestrian expertise to bring a unique balance to Sho Clothes. Today, Sho Clothes is known as the dressage community's favorite stop for fine dressage apparel. The Sho Clothes mobile boutique is set up at all the South Florida major dressage shows throughout the 2007 season. Visit www.shoclothes.com for more information.
