

For Immediate Release

For more information contact
Michele Hundt
michele@shoclothes.com
www.shoclothes.com
561-319-2121

Malin and Moyes Win the Sho Clothes FEI Jog Presentation Gift Certificates at the Palm Beach Dressage Derby

Wellington, FL- Sho Clothes, Wellington's dressage boutique, sponsored the FEI Jog Presentation Awards at the Palm Beach Derby held last weekend. Judges, Patrick Burssens and Karen McKean watched as the horses and riders strutted for the CDI panel and vied for the Sho Clothes $100 Gift Certificate awards for best turnout.

Mystere Moyes and her partner, Watussi, stopped the show with a winning combination of "chestnut and peach." Lisa Blackmon, Moyes' trainer, took her student shopping the night before where they chose a peach jacket that would compliment her chestnut partner. "All young riders should dress well for the FEI Jog," she said. "It's a sign of respect for the sport and the horse." She praised Sho Clothes for sponsoring the class because it gives riders an extra incentive to dress well. The Sho Clothes Ladies Turnout Gift Certificate easily went to this well-groomed pair.

Not to be outdone, Timothy Malin escorted Harmony's Coolio into the ring, confidently stepping out in a smart-looking sage suit, a crisp white shirt and snappy dotted salmon tie (which also accented his handsome partner's coloring). Malin happily received the Sho Clothes $100 Gift Certificate for winning Mens' Turnout. It was a striking presentation of two well-groomed men.

Along with recognizing the best turned-out pair in the CDI Jog, Sho Clothes owners, Michele Hundt and Betsy Rebar Sell also made a special point to recognize the show's youngest competitors. For the popular Derby Lead Line class, Sho Clothes joined forces with Equine Ambiance. This special event is sponsored by DressageDaily.com and benefits the Vinceremos Therapeutic Riding Center. The very youngest up-and-coming riders were judged by Klaus Balkenhol, US Dressage Team Chef d'Equipe. Balkenhol joined in the fun, carefully making sure no one was overlooked during the intense competition. Sho Clothes and Equine Ambiance awarded every entry with a fancy woven leather bracelet which was engraved with the child's or the pony's name on it.

To top off a wonderful show, Betsy Rebar Sell, co-owner of Sho Clothes boutique, won the Open Grand Prix Special with a score of 65.933% and the Open Grand Prix with a score of 65.625%. Her horse, Wonderful Walden, is also well known as the model for the Sho Clothes logo. Wonderful Walden was Rebar Sell's partner when she won the team gold medal at the Pan Am Games (they placed 4th individually). This past summer the pair made it to the Grand Prix Championships at Gladstone, where they placed 9th. "This senior equine not only makes it to the show, but at 20 years old, he still has what it takes to win with the best,” Sell said admiringly of him.

It was a fitting end to a very successful 25th Palm Beach Dressage Derby for both partners of the Sho Clothes boutique, who have been actively serving the dressage community since 2001. Sho Clothes has been especially supportive to the Palm Beach Derby. Visit the Sho Clothes mobile boutique at the major dressage shows, or stop by the new “Sho” Room, located in the Taj Mahal Building at 3220 Fairlane Farms Road, Wellington.

For more information please contact: www.shoclothes.com

*Photo 1: Mystere Moyes on Watussi receives the Sho Clothes CDI Jog Award from Patrick Burssens and Michele Hundt
Photo credit: (JR Photo)*

*Photo 2: Tim Malin (left) receives the Sho Clothes CDI Jog Award from Betsy Rebar Sell, Patrick Burssens and Michele Hundt
Photo credit: (JR Photo)*

*Photo 3: Lead line Winners clamor at Equine Ambiance to get their leather bracelets
Photo credit: (JR Photo)*

