Back by Popular Demand -

Michele Hundt's Artwork Returns to Artists Haven Gallery

Wellington, FL (May 19, 2010) – Artwork by Michele Hundt is back by popular demand at the Artists Haven Gallery in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida. Hundt, the co-owner of Sho Clothes dressage boutique, recently had a painting appear in the 2010 International Juried Fine Art Painting Competition at the gallery.

“I was very pleased to have my work accepted for the juried show, and now my artwork will appear in two more shows at the Artists Haven Gallery as well as on their website,” Hundt said.

Hundt is no stranger to the art world, having spent 17 years as a Designer and Art Director in Ohio before joining with Betsy Rebar Sell to open Sho Clothes. Hundt continued to use her artistic skills at Sho Clothes, designing the company's logo after Rebar Sell's award winning horse Wonderful Walden. Hundt's Sho Clothes logo appears on the store's bags and show coolers.

“I am really excited to have my work featured at Artists Haven. Although I have had a diverse career, it has always been art related,” Hundt said. “I have been painting for years, and this has really been a great adventure. I see a great deal of my love for horses incorporated into my artwork, which of course is a wonderful way for me to combine my love for horses and art.”

Sho Clothes, Hundt's dressage boutique located at 3220 Fairlane Farms Road in Wellington, boasts a wide variety of the finest in dressage clothes, apparel, jewelry and dressage accessories.
